Fundraising with a Purpose: Housing, Healing & Hope is more than a fundraising event. It is truly building homes. building community & building futures.

About the Belvedere Housing Initiative

The Belvedere development is a transformational Indigenous-led affordable and market housing initiative consisting of approximately 149 housing units in Edmonton, Alberta. The project was created to support Indigenous children, youth, families, and elders through safe, affordable, culturally connected, and community-focused housing.

For many Indigenous families living in urban centers, the challenges are complex and deeply interconnected. Many families leave their Nations due to limited housing availability, overcrowding, lack of economic opportunity, family violence, food insecurity, and addictions, intergenerational trauma, or the need to access healthcare, education, and employment opportunities.

Once families relocate to urban centers, many experience isolation, cultural disconnection, financial hardship, unstable housing, houselessness, and limited support systems. Some families struggle to know where to begin rebuilding stability for themselves and their children.

The Belvedere housing initiative was created to help change that reality.

Funds raised through this event will directly support playground development, Indigenous cultural gathering spaces, recreation areas, wellness spaces, and community infrastructure connected to the Belvedere development.

Why This Initiative Matters

- Indigenous families continue to face housing shortages and affordability challenges in urban centers.
  - Many Indigenous children grow up without access to safe recreation and culturally supportive community spaces.
  - Food insecurity and financial instability continue to impact many Indigenous households.
  - Families transitioning into urban living often experience isolation and limited access to support systems.
  - Community gathering spaces and cultural connection are essential for healing, belonging, and long-term wellness.
  - Stable housing and wrap-around support services create pathways toward education, employment, safety, and opportunity.
